Swiss companies Swiss Eco Line and Bagno Sasso Mobili are showcasing the art of design and sustainability in participating in the restoration project of a 15th century historical monument.

Bagno Sasso Mobili, founded in 1995 by Rolf Senti, focuses on luxurious design ideas and product for exclusive bathrooms, retreats and homes. Their unique range of products have been awarded with the GOOD DESIGN for the wooden tub "Ocean Sailor" and the REDDOT DESIGN AWARD for their concrete sink "Wedge".

Rolf Senti, CEO of Bagno Sasso Mobili, launched his second company Swiss Eco Line. The company develops water- and energy efficient products for bathroom and wellness areas with their sensor faucets Swiss Eco Tap to reduce water consumption by 90% and drop energy consumption to zero. Swiss Eco Tap is the winner of the prestigious 2015 Chicago GREEN GOOD DESIGN Award for the most environmentally friendly water faucet.

The creative minds behind Bagno Sasso Mobili and Swiss Eco Line are the same. Their focus is directed to bringing style to the bathroom - and sustainability.

Bagno Sasso Mobili and Swiss Eco Line had recently been chosen by Swiss architects Blumenthal & Capaul to participate in the renovation of a Swiss landmark. Integrating contemporary design, functionality and sustainability into the historical space had been the core criteria. The Blumenthal & Capaul project was awarded with the 2015 Constructive Alps, the International prize for most sustainable renovation and new building in the Alps.
